G. Most Recent Developments after Publication of My Book: "Islamic Money and Banking:

Integrating Money in Capital Theory"; John Wiley & Sons, 2009:

(G-1)- Invitation extended to me by International Centre for Education in Islamic Finance, INCEIF, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, as Visiting Professor to teach. I taught two courses in the Fall Semester, 2009: (i) "Islamic Banking" to both Ph.D. and Master's Degree Students; and (ii) "Islamic Capital Market" to Certified Islamic Finance Professional, CIFP, students.

(G-2)- I have been asked by INCEIF to go back more often and collaborate with them more closely in two different areas: (a) Supervising Ph.D. dissertations and Master's degree theses, and (b) do research. I have assured them that I would comply with this request on an alternate fashion in the current year.

(G-3)- After having had my book published it, once again, came to my mind to simulate Islamic Banking based on my approach in order to produce a tangible model of worldwide comprehension for both academicians and professional bankers. This project will encompass all Shariah-compliant contracts with all risks involved in variable-return contracts. The project which is expected to be the most comprehensive of all is in its embryonic stage. Further, due to complexities of the project different expertise will be asked to share their views due to its being beyond my own experience.

NOTE: In the December 2009 issue of the Global Islamic Finance Magazine (London) a book review of my book has appeared.

(G-4)- I was interviewed at INCEIF while being there (Kuala Lumpur) by Liau Y-Sing/Reuters about the possibility of using LIBOR within Islamic banks network. My response with the title: "Islamic Banks Need Benchmark Profit Rate" was first disseminated across countries on September 23, 2009.

(G-5)- Public speech delivered at Bank Negara, Malaysia, on: "Islamic Banking and Islamic Capital Market as it should Be"; Nov. 24, 2009.

(G-6)-Teaching "Islamic Finance" to MBA students at American University of the Middle East; Kuwait (Known as AUM affiliated with Purdue University); during May-August 2010.

(G-7)- "Islamic Banking / Finance and its Global Challenges" at Universities Islam Sultan Agung (UNISULLA); Semarang, Indonesia; May 11, 2011

(G-8)- "Islamic Money and Banking and its Global Practice" at University of Airlangga; Surabaya, Indonesia; May 14, 2011.
